SOVIET REJECTS U. S. COUNSEL ON CHINA

COMES LIKE A THUNDERCLAP FROM CLEAR SKY

STIMSON'S INVOKING OF KELLOGG PACT IN MANCHURIA COMES TO NAUGHT

MOSCOW STRIKES AT SECRETARY OF STATE'S MOBILIZATION OF WORLD OPINION

By LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—News of Soviet Russia's vigorous repudiation of Secretary of State Stimson's effort to invoke the Kellogg pact in Manchuria hit Washington today like a thunderclap from a sunny sky.

Moscow struck at Stimson's mobilization of world opinion with the statement the action of the United States could not be considered as friendly. Soviet Russia objected similarly to action of Great Britain and France in support of Stimson.

The effect of Russia's action on future relations between the United States and the Soviet government was the theme of immediate speculation as news of the Soviet attitude became known here.

The United States has refused recognition to the Soviet government hitherto, but some observers believed the effort to invoke the Kellogg treaty might in some degree affect Washington's attitude if Moscow proved amenable to the pressure of public opinion which Stimson attempted to exert. Conversely the opinion was widely held Russia might create the opposite result by proving intractable in the face of American leadership of the world's mobilized moral force.

The department of state said the Russian reply had not been received and no comment would be made at this time. Stimson's communication to Moscow was sent Saturday by way of the French government and the reply presumably will follow the same route.

A United Press dispatch from Moscow revealed Soviet Russia had addressed identical notes to the United States, Great Britain and France rejecting warnings to refrain from hostilities and asserting the Russo-Chinese dispute was in process of adjustment and would be settled by the interested parties without outside interference.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Moscow's repudiation of the United States effort to invoke the Kellogg anti-war pact against conflict in Manchuria is considered at the state department to be made late today. Final decision on this point rests with Secretary of State Stimson.

Moscow, Dec. 4.—The Soviet government has rejected the warnings of the United States, Great Britain and France to refrain from hostilities with China under terms of the Kellogg anti-war pact, declaring that in view of impending direct negotiations with Manchuria for settlement of the Chinese Eastern railway dispute, the warnings of the powers constitutes an act which cannot be considered friendly.

The Soviet rejection was contained in identical notes to the three governments which joined in an appeal to Moscow and the Chinese nationalist government at Nanking.

The notes were issued simultaneously with the announcement that the Soviet foreign agent, Simonovsky, had signed a protocol with Tsai Yun-Sheng, Mukden peace delegate, for settlement of the railway dispute.

In calling attention to the impending direct negotiations with the Mukden government, the Soviet notes declare the notes of the three Kellogg powers constitute "an entirely unjustified pressure which cannot be considered as a friendly act."

Russia asserted emphatically that the conflict in Manchuria can be settled only by direct negotiations between the Soviet government and Mukden on the basis of the Soviet minimum conditions already accepted. Any interference of outside powers will not be permitted, the notes stated.

In the note to the United States, an additional clause expressed astonishment that a government which refused diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union should appeal to it with "advice and instructions."

The notes said the Soviet government did not admit the right of any single country or group of countries to assume the functions of "protectors of the Paris (Kellogg) treaty" of which both Russia and China are signatories.

The Manchurian situation was reviewed briefly, the Soviets charging that the Chinese government for years had violated Soviet rights despite the fact that Russia voluntarily had renounced its extra territorial rights in China.

It declared that the same cannot be said of other powers which were maintaining gunboats and other forces in China.

The Soviet press angrily denounced the American, British and French declarations under the Kellogg pact as a hypocritical attempt to upset the negotiations with the Mukden government.

Shanghai, China, Dec. 4.—The national government of China replied today to the British and United States notes reminding China of her obligations under the anti-war treaty in the dispute with Russia.

11 OF CREW OF FREIGHTER DROWN AS SHIP HITS REEF

Tutuila, Samoa, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Eleven members of the crew of the freighter Norwich City were drowned when the vessel struck a reef at Gardiner Island in the south Pacific ocean, said a wireless message received here today from the steamer Trongete.

Heavy seas today prevented the rescue of more than three survivors from the island. A radio operator, second engineer and one other man were saved so far.

POKED MOUNDS IN THE HAY AND FOUND THEIR MEN

RAIDING PROHIBITION AGENTS GET 5 ALLEGED BOOTLEGERS NEAR ROBERTS, WIS.

IN OTHER RAIDS FOLLOWING THEY ARREST 5 OTHER MEN AND SEIZE 2 STILL

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Old-time fiddlers who were knockouts at "Turkey in the Straw" have nothing at all on Maurice Silverman's raiding prohibition agents.

These agents made up a new game over near Roberts, Wisconsin, while searching for bootleggers, which was very much like hide-and-seek-in-the-hay only it is played with pitchforks. Silverman's raiding squad found what they said was a large still on the farm of John Brown and were looking around for the farmers when their attention was directed to several mysterious mounds in a hay loft.

"Come on, fellows, let's start jabbing pitchforks in the hay!" shouted one of the agents. "We'll get them."

The game ended right there and five men "gave up."

Arrested with Brown were Joe Zamparelli, Minneapolis; Hennie Swanson, New Richmond, Wis.; Leon Prisk, River Falls, and Ralph Stauffer, Hudson.

In other raids about the district, which Silverman said has succeeded Stearns county as the "bootleg capital" of this region, the agents arrested five other men and seized four stills all in operation, two of 500-gallon and one of 300-gallon capacity.

All 10 men arrested faced indictment under the Jones law.

CONDUCT OF MATRON NOT APPROVED OF BY JUSTICE McNAMEE

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Because Mrs. Emory Jones admittedly smoked, drank and stayed out late she lost the custody of their four-year-old daughter, Marilyn.

In court recently Marilyn asked to be allowed to live with her father. Subsequently Mrs. Jones admitted she occasionally went out with other men.

Justice McNamee, in awarding the child to Jones, said Mrs. Jones' conduct might be tolerated by the younger generation, but that it was not approved by "old fashioned folk."

"No young woman ever improved herself in the eyes of her children by smoking," said the court.

RUSS FLIERS TO AID IN SEARCH FOR EIELSON

Juneau, Alaska, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—While Joe Crosson, Alaska Airways pilot, chafed impatiently as bad weather delayed his hope from Teller to search for his comrade, Carl Ben Eielson, lost with his mechanic in Siberia since mid-November, two Soviet fliers announced they would proceed with another rescue expedition.

The Russian pilots were aboard the icebreaker Litke. They planned to proceed as far as possible by boat, then unship their planes and take to the air. It had previously been reported that they had abandoned their projected flight.

Eielson was lost while on a flight to the fur trading ship Banuk, ice-bound near North Cape.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY SWITCH ENGINE

Minneapolis, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Carl A. Ryden, 74, was instantly killed in the yards of the Milwaukee railroad here today when he was struck by a switch engine. Ryden was employed by the Milwaukee.

tions under the anti-war treaty in the dispute with Russia.

The reply insisted that throughout the dispute the Nanking government had maintained a peaceful attitude and refrained from hostile military action except in self defense. The note recalls China's august pledge to abide by the treaty and promises to continue to do so.

Dramatic Scene in Senate When Wm. S. Vare Appears and Pleads in His Own Defense

PARALYZED ARM WAS STUCK IN HIS TROUSER POCKET

LEANS HEAVILY AGAINST DESK, TO PREVENT FALLING TO FLOOR

READS 2,000-WORD SPEECH IN WHICH HE STRIKES BOLDLY AT ACCUSERS

Washington, Dec. 4.—The senate privileges and elections committee today voted to throw out the contest raised by William B. Wilson, democrat, over the election of William S. Vare as senator from Pennsylvania.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 4.—While the house was preparing to overcome some opposition to the tax reduction resolution the senate today witnessed an unprecedentedly dramatic scene when Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania appeared there in person, a semi-invalid, to demand his seat.

His paralyzed arm was stuck in his trouser's pocket. He leaned heavily against a desk to keep himself from falling to the floor as he read a 2,000-word speech in which he struck boldly at his accusers. In a high pitched and almost feeble voice which could be easily heard in the stillness of the chamber, Vare contended he had constitutionally been elected three years ago and that the rights of the people who chose him had been violated by the senate.

His physician watched him closely as he read with obvious difficulty from sheets of paper, pausing at the conclusion of one so he could use his only available hand to lay down one sheet and pick up another.

A crowded senate chamber watched closely also, as Vare admitted he spent much money in his primary campaign but contended many senators around him had spent more than 50 cents a vote in their campaigns. The charges against him are "unfair and unjust," he said.

Never before had a non-member been granted the privilege of making a speech in the way Vare was permitted to speak. It is contrary to the rules but the way was provided for it when the senate adopted a resolution giving him the right to defend himself before the body which shortly is to vote upon a resolution aimed to exclude him.

The president's budget message, outlining the prosperous condition of government finances rested on the senate desk. It was read earlier in the house where the leaders encountered a small but militant opposition to their tax reduction resolution.

The resolution granting a one per cent cut in the total taxes of individuals and corporations was ordered reported to the house after a brief meeting of the ways and means committee. Only one vote was cast against the resolution.

70 DOGS HAVE BEEN POISONED IN ST. PAUL DISTRICT

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Three investigations were started and $500 in rewards offered here today after frantic complaints from the Payne avenue residential district disclosed more than 70 dogs have been poisoned there in the past week.

Residents of the neighborhood declared that for the past few days as many as 12 dogs have been seen dead or writhing in death in the streets at one time.

Scores of dog lovers contributed small amounts to make up the reward when they learned the animals suffered hours of agony before death.

The person responsible was believed to have first made friends with canines and then fed them pieces of poisoned meat.

STATE DRAWS NEAR END IN McMANUS CASE

RUN RAPID SUCCESSION OF WITNESSES TO AND FROM THE WITNESS CHAIR

McMANUS, IT IS CLAIMED, WAS OCCUPANT OF ROOM WHEN ROTHSTEIN WAS SHOT

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 4.—The state drew near the end of its case today in the trial of George A. McManus, accused of the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

By running a rapid succession of witnesses to and from the witness chair yesterday, important points were established, such as the fact that McManus was the registered occupant of the room in which Rothstein allegedly was shot and that Rothstein was called to that room "by a man who said he was McManus."

There still remain important sections of proof to be produced—for instance proof that McManus not only engaged the hotel room in question but that he and Rothstein were in it at approximately the same time.

Bridget Farry, the picturesque chambermaid who has haunted the court building since the trial opened, is possibly the main reliance of the state to furnish that portion of the proof.

It seemed possible that the state might close its case by tomorrow noon or even earlier. The defense has a number of witnesses available and could easily consume another 10 days with testimony. However, a number of witnesses brought here from outside of New York by McManus' attorney, already have been sent away and it is believed the testimony offered in McManus' behalf will be brief.

BOUDOIR SCENES DESCRIPTIONS IN DIVORCE CASE

ALLEGEDLY INVOLVE RAY H. ARNOLD WITH ATTRACTIVE WIDOW AND DAUGHTER

BRINGS LARGE CROWD TO THE SCENE OF THE TRIAL IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—Descriptions of lively boudoir scenes which allegedly involved Ray H. Arnold with an attractive widow and her daughter brought a large crowd to the courtroom of Supreme Court Justice McCook today for the Arnold divorce trial.

Mrs. Bessie Arnold has named Mrs. Margaret Crenshaw West, the widow, in her suit while Arnold, also seeking a divorce, named Charles Hann, Jr., one of his wife's attorneys, and Chas. Pritch, now dead.

Alienation of affection suits involving $1,500,000 are contained in separate actions.

Thomas F. Berry, negro butler, testified late Tuesday that Arnold "lived at Mrs. West's" and that he had served them breakfast together in her bedroom. While Mrs. West was in California, the butler testified, Arnold and Mrs. West's daughter, Martha Crenshaw, then 19, were together twice in the same bedroom. On both occasions they were in night clothes, he said, and once they were "running" around the room. He was chasing her and she seemed to like it, the witness testified.

BIGGEST TUNNEL OF ITS TYPE AT BOLOGNA, ITALY

Bologna, Italy, Dec. 4.—(U.P.)—The biggest tunnel of its type in the world—the 12-mile bore under the Appennine mountains, connecting Florence and Bologna—was formally inaugurated today by government and local authorities.

The last blast, breaking down the final rock barricade in the center of the tunnel, was set off in the presence of officials.

A tablet in memory of 69 workmen killed in accidents during building of the tunnel was unveiled.

2 OF HEALTHIEST YOUNGSTERS IN 4-H CLUB WORK

FLORENCE SMOCK OF FLORIDA AND HAROLD DEATHLINE, AN INDIANA BOY

ARE HEALTHIEST AMONG 750,000 FARM YOUTHS ENROLLED IN ORGANIZATION

By MERTON T. AKERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Florence Smock, a pretty Florida miss with a lazy drawl and Harold Deathline, a husky Indiana lad, stood at the pinnacle of 4-H club achievement today, the healthiest among the 750,000 farm youths enrolled in the organization.

Miss Smock, brunette, long hair and short skirted, is 98.7 per cent perfect and Harold is within 8 of 1 per cent of 100 per cent perfect, a formidable array of judges decided after much examination and considerable conferring.

Both are 17 years old. Neither is athletic. They were as one in citing the value of at least eight hours' sleep at night. Both shun coffee, tea and cigarettes.

These youngsters were selected from contestants representing 28 states at the 4-H congress held with the International Livestock Show. Florence and Harold were guarded carefully by chaperons, and their home addresses kept secret.

The secret in Florence's case, it was explained by the chaperon, was to keep her from being deluged with mail and to eliminate potential proposals of marriage.

Florence and Harold posed for pictures after the announcement. She was in a brown and gold cloth dress, he in his new brown suit and shoes that squeaked.

Just as the camera men were about to set off flashes, the chaperon rushed over and pulled Florence's dress a quarter of an inch lower over her knees. Harold, already fussed by all the attention by women reporters, blushed to the roots of his almost white hair.

Florence summed up her healthy condition in a few words, "Florida sunshine and citrus fruits." Harold attributed his health to "wholesome food and plenty of it." He said he drinks milk at every meal and in between times.

Harold admitted he "went out with the girls occasionally but always got to bed by 10 o'clock." Florence also indicated she permitted certain Florida youths to visit her once in a while. "But they have to go home early," she drawled.

Florence "just loves to dance" but Harold doesn't go in for that sort of thing much, he said.

The announcement of the healthiest couple climaxed the big day at the International Stock Show, in which wheat, corn and oats kings were chosen and the grand champion steer was selected.

The grain kings were: wheat, Joseph H. E. Smith, Wolf Creek, Alberta; corn, L. M. Vogler, Hope, Ind., and oats, C. J. Gustafson, Victor, Mont.

PLAN ICE RINK FOR BRAINERD

Meeting at Chamber of Commerce
Discuss Financing Features of Winter Sports

SITE IS PROPOSED

Special Tax Must be Levied if Park
Board is to Finance
Enterprise

At a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last evening the question of a skating and hockey rink for Brainerd was taken up. Brainerd had a rink up until last year that was supported mainly by individuals, but those present thought that it was asking too much of various individuals to continue so.

It is believed that in order to take it out of the hands of individuals a special tax will have to be levied so that the Park Board will have the funds to see the project through. This cannot be done this year but plans are being made to fix up the old rink behind the court house for this season.

The site back of the court house is ideal owing to the fact that it is a natural amphitheatre because of the surrounding hills. The hills are said to be suitable for skiing and tobogganing as well. The Water and Light Department have agreed to furnish free light and free water for the rink. The water piping system to the site is already installed.

It is hoped that in time suitable rinks can be established in various parts of the city, but that program is impossible this year because no system for raising funds can be completed in time.

At the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, President C. A. Ryan has promised to take up the situation with the members of the Chamber and discuss plans for proper financing and maintaining of ice rinks in Brainerd.

In 1926 Alfred Dillan, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. called a committee together and the Outdoor Sports club was formed. The financing of the project was partially defrayed by selling membership tickets to the club. Donations were also given by the business men of the city and $200 was given by the Park Board. This kept the ice rink for Brainerd during 1926, 1927 and 1928.

Before 1926 the only rink that was accessible to Brainerd was a home-made one on Boom Lake. The snow was cleaned off the lake from time to time, but many times it could not be used because of excessive snows.

To Editor Dispatch:

Do you know how to help the farmers and empty the prisons?

The government should undertake to handle all alcoholic liquor as it is done in Canada, and have only good liquor for sale. This would put the bootleggers out of business and would save the government many hundreds of millions which are paid out now to the prohibition agents. We would not be obliged to build more prisons.

They have a law only for the rich to get his drinks. They give a large dinner in Washington where even the congressmen were obliged to indulge in liquor.

When a poor man gets caught drinking liquor he will be put in jail. Some are foolish even enough to think that they will be able to stop this, which they will never be able to do. They drank in the old Testament and will always drink as long as this earth exists. Now they make moonshine and drink it.

I know some people that did not drink when we had saloons. Then you did not see the young girls drink whiskey.

Formerly at a dance they would have a keg of beer and would enjoy themselves. Now they have no beer at a dance, but the boys and even the girls will have to have their moonshine.

They did something with this law which will not stop until they begin to sell good liquor.

I am no prophet, but if we will have no change our next president will be Governor Roosevelt and Mr. Smith will be his right hand man.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN SCHMOLKE,
Buckman, Minn., and

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

December 4, 1904

J. A. McColl returned this morning from a trip to St. Louis where he took in the big fair, and to Sarnia, Ontario where he attended the golden wedding of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McColl of that place. Mr. and Mrs. McColl were married in Sarnia Nov. 30, 1854 and celebrated their golden wedding in the same town, having lived there the entire 50 years.

The Northern Pacific has created a new position in at least two of the company shops on the system, one here and one at South Tacoma. The new office is that of assistant shop superintendent and R. P. Blake, who has been a mechanical engineer in the employ of the company at St. Paul for some time, has been appointed to the position. J. E. O'Brien who has also been connected with the N. P. at St. Paul for years has been appointed to a similar position in the South Tacoma shops. The assistant shop superintendents will have supervision of the mechanical engineering department.

The Skaugie Drug company is moving its stock into the new Imperial block, and the notable thing about the change is the fact that there has been a drug store at the location where the Skaugie Drug is moving out of since the year 1876, nearly 30 years ago. In 1876 the late N. McFadden built a small frame building on the site and for years conducted a drug store. In 1885 he and H. A. Towne entered into some arrangement whereby Mr. Towne built the present Towne-McFadden block. During this year while the new brick building was being erected the small frame building was moved in the middle of the street and Mr. McFadden did business here one summer. After the new block was built Mr. McFadden continued in the drug business until he died. It was at this location that C. D. Johnson was in business for years. The late F. B. Johnson came to Brainerd in 1882 and worked for N. McFadden until 1893 when he was taken in partnership. It was also for this firm that H. P. Dunn first worked when he came to Brainerd.

The Mann Brothers elegant new bowling alley will be opened to the public this evening.

Value of Winter Sports

THERE is a value to winter sports that cannot be appreciated by some people. Winter sports duly chronicled give publicity to this section and show that winter does not bring a cessation of movement and life in a community, but actually accentuates it.

Brainerd and the Lake Region are advertised to the ends of the earth so far as summer sports and summer tourist trade is anticipated and realized, but there is an appreciable void of something to do and carry on in the winter season.

Our lakes and rivers offer admirable skating surfaces, they are dotted with fish houses. Ice boats are seen on some of the lakes and operate as long as the snowfall does not interfere. We come to Brainerd itself and find the Park Board valiantly striving to keep a skating course open at Lum Park.

In the past we have had varied attempts to utilize an artificial rink in the vicinity of the court house. We all remember one year when the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways co-operated to give an impetus to winter sports. There was a grand parade at St. Paul in which our Tommy Wood led the Brainerd contingent and the railway outfitted its shopmen in brilliant carnival costumes. There was skating and there were hockey games with outside teams.

In other years the rink at the court house was utilized and sports there took an upward sweep. During the time General Secretary Alfred Dillan of the Y. M. C. A. was in charge of sports, a hockey league flourished at the rink and winter sports grew amazingly in popularity.

No one denies the benefit of winter sports, properly supervised. One thing needed is an efficient, central, civic spirit to guide, finance and maintain the rink and its activities. It is too much to expect one or more individuals of public spirit to shoulder the whole burden.

Meetings are now being held by citizens interested in winter sports and it is hoped to evolve a plan at this time which will get Chamber of Commerce sponsorship aided by city departments and to eventually have a method which will make winter sports a regular official program of our city.

There is a utilitarian end to all of this. It will bring people to our city in the winter time. It will encourage athletics and preserve the health of the community. It will let the world at large know that a central Minnesota community does not hibernate in winter, but is every bit as much alive as in summer time. It will encourage business in many lines handled in winter time.

Not so many years ago a winter motorist was a curiosity. In the first place, he did not have much roadway in which to operate his car. Nowadays, how many people put their cars on stilts until next April? Nearly everybody drives in winter. The open road, maintained clear by the Highway Department in territory out of town, with the county aiding on other roads and the city operating with its snow removal equipment, has made winter motoring a habit and almost second nature to all of us.

Now if we can couple to this a winter sports movement successfully, it means much to old and young people, to the business and other interests, to our city and section. More young people will be able to enjoy themselves and anxious parents will be relieved when they can entrust their hopefuls to a supervised, safe skating course. And as the movement grows, all things do not have to be centered at the court house rink, but smaller rinks may be made in other parts of town.

What is the first thing a winter sport does? It brings greater healthfulness, better spirits, keener zest in living and adds to one's appetite. Lake Placid in New York is known the world over for its winter sports. Brainerd can eventually become a competitor if we make use of our many natural resources.

Predicting Forest Fire Hazards

THE state forest service soon will be able to predict increases or decreases in the forest fire hazard due within a period of 24 to 48 hours.

This is one of the inclusions reached as a result of field experiments and observations made in fire weather investigations during the last two years at the Larson Lookout Station near Bemidji.

Records are taken of the air, water and ground temperatures. The direction and velocity of the winds, humidity of the air, water levels in the lakes and ground, air pressure, precipitation and moisture content of the layer of humus and duff on the ground are the weather conditions recorded.

These records are charted and when correlated to the number and extent of forest fires, the fire hazard for weather conditions on any particular day can be determined, it was pointed out by Grover M. Conzet, state forester, under whom the work has been conducted.

In addition to the fire forecasting, the observers have also been studying the weather changes brought about by the passage of fires over areas, together with the effects from fire swept areas on lake and ground water levels.

Through Streets

THE council is to be commended for considering the ordinance designating certain streets as through streets in Brainerd and so solving traffic problems and contributing to safety in driving.

It is hoped the ordinance will be adopted soon and the necessary signs ordered and placed to so mark the streets designated. The city also showed commendable action recently in sanding down intersections carrying heavy traffic and thus aiding to prevent accidents during the siege of icy streets.

THE annual Christmas tree harvest in Minnesota is well under way. It is believed the cut will amount to 200 freight car loads and some 300 more truck loads.

THE annual Kandiyohi County Poultry show will be held at Willmar on January 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Hill Folks Flogged By Night Riders

Night riders have been preying on the poorer and more illiterate hill people of Mountain View, Ark. Investigation of their activities has revealed that a band of men had been terrorizing residents in this section for many years, flogging and murder are among the charges laid against five men who are held by the authorities in connection with the outrage. (Upper left) Alek Fulks, one of five men held by police for questioning in connection with the torturing and slaying by the band of night riders. (Lower left) Mrs. Bertha Johnson, chief deputy sheriff of Stone

County, Ark., who worked with her husband, Sam Johnson, sheriff, in unearthing clues to the torturing and murder of two boys, eight and twenty years old. (Upper right) Mrs. Bertha Burns, 40 and her 80-year-old husband, Haywood, have both been flogged by the night riders. (Lower) Tillie Rumer, sixteen-year-old mountain girl, revealed to the police a startling and grim drama of mutilation and murder. The girl's sweetheart, Connie Franklin, twenty-year-old farm boy, was tortured and burned alive.

Guessing Games

They were a lot of fun when we were youngsters, those guessing games. Guess who this is! Guess the number of beans in the pot! Guess how long the pendulum will swing! Sometimes we came pretty close to the right answer. Sometimes we were a long way off. Whichever we were, we all had a good time, and the worst guesser got as much of the evening's refreshments as the best.

How far away those guessing games seem now! And how they have lost their appeal. Perhaps it's because we learned, as we grew older, that to know is better than to guess. Guess which is the best package on the grocer's shelf! Guess which bolt of cloth is pure wool! Guess which talking machine will give us most satisfaction! No, guessing for those things wasn't so much fun. We wanted to be certain. And that was one of the reasons we turned to advertising.

Advertising takes the guesswork out of buying. It lets us know what is best and what is cheapest and what will last longest. It does away with unsatisfactory uncertainties. The advertisements in this newspaper tell a concise, interesting and accurate story about articles you need. Reading them is the surest and quickest path to wise buying. It eliminates guessing.

By reading the advertisements regularly, and buying advertised goods, you take the guessing out of spending your money.

5 LEADING HEAVYWEIGHTS AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

BOXING SHAKES OFF LETHARGY IN SPORT CENTER

OTTO VON PORAT, HARD HITTING NORWEGIAN, TO BATTLE PHIL SCOTT

OTHER 3 APPEAR IN VARYING ROLES, JACK DEMPSEY TO BE REFEREE

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 4.—Five of the world's leading heavyweights are scheduled to appear at Madison Square Garden next Monday night and boxing has shaken off the lethargy which has prevailed since the retirement of Gene Tunney.

Unfortunately, only two of the heavyweights are scheduled to fight—Otto Von Porat, hard hitting Norwegian from Chicago, and Phil Scott, English champion, being scheduled for a twelve-round bout as the feature of a Christmas fund charity show.

The other three, two former champions and the ranking contender, appear in varying roles. Jack Dempsey, most colorful of all heavyweight champions, has obtained a New York referee's license and is scheduled to officiate the Scott-Von Porat bout, his first appearance as a referee in New York.

Gene Tunney, whose retirement left the heavyweight class in its present chaos, returned yesterday from a 15-months European trip and is expected to attend the bout as a spectator. It was suggested that inasmuch as Tunney is one of the committee to decide the winner of the Muldoon-Tunney trophy symbolical of the championship he act as judge in the Scott-Von Porat fight. Gene appeared against at the idea:

"Oh, my," he gasped, "that would be a tough situation."

Jack Sharkey, recognized as the leading contender for the title, will be present as a spectator and to "scout" the man he may be called upon to meet in a future elimination bout at Miami Beach later in the winter.

Further interest was added to the situation by the return yesterday of Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling. Jacobs has been in Europe to confer with the German heavyweight and reported that Max will sail for America shortly before Christmas. Schmeling has signed to fight an unselected opponent at Atlantic City on Feb. 22 and plans to establish training headquarters at the resort city about Jan. 1.

Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, will leave his native haunts next Sunday and sail for America to fulfill his contract for several bouts under direction of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Young Stribling and Primo Carnera, the Italian man mountain, who complete the list of recognized title contenders, are scheduled for a return bout in Paris, Dec. 15. The big Italian plans to sail for America immediately after the bout if he succeeds in repeating his previous victory over the Georgian and with his arrival, there will be enough tons of fighters on hand to provide an interesting winter season of competition.

The return of Tunney and his bride, the former Polly Lauder, aboard the S. S. Vulcania was yesterday's feature event in fist circles, even though Gene emphasized that he is through with the prize ring.

Tunney adopted a conciliatory attitude towards the press and photographers, but refused to leave the ship until an impromptu reception committee, including such striking characters as "Joe, the Goniff," "Dumb Dan" Morgan, "Fatz" Zuckerman, two sons of "John the Barber," "One Punch" Williams and other hangers-on of the ring, armed with banners reading "Welcome home, Tunney," was dispersed.

The former champion refused to discuss the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Katherine Fogarty and another for a similar amount alleging alienation of affections, filed by her husband, but was quite willing to talk about fist affairs.

Hack Wilson's Bat Was Loyal to Him in Pinch

Hack Wilson, the bat breaker with the Chicago Cubs, may never get a job prophesying after his playing days are over, because the prophet business isn't so good nowadays. But if he does, he ought to make a good one.

In the Pacific Coast spring series between the Cubs and Pirates one year, Hack got his prophesying working—and how!

It was in a game in which Earl Smith, the talkative catcher, was behind the bat for the Buccaneers. The Pirates were ahead, 4 to 0, and he was telling Wilson who was at bat, just how good the Blues really were.

Two men were out and there were two on the sacks. The count on Hack was two strikes and two balls. The pitcher prepared to deliver another pitch.

"Earl," said Wilson, rather kindly, "after this pitch the score is going to be 4 to 3."

Kreiner shot the ball at him and Hack crashed it into the bleachers.

Came the seventh inning and the Cubs had the tying and winning runs on third and second.

"Earl," said Hack, as gently as he could, "this here ball game is over."

It was, because Wilson hit the next pitch for a double, scoring two runs.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR CITY HOCKEY TEAM

NABHOLZ AND WATROUS TEE OFF AT LOS ANGELES

START SECOND ROUND OF NATIONAL PROFESSIONAL GOLFERS' ASSOCIATION

DIEGEL YESTERDAY SHOT INCREDIBLE 64, BROKE COMPETITIVE COURSE RECORD

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Larry Nabholz, Houston, Texas, and Al Watrous, Detroit, were first to tee off in the second round of the National Professional Golfers' Association tournament at Hillcrest Country Club today.

After the sensational performance of Leo Diegel, defending champion, in breaking the competitive course record yesterday with an incredible 64, the attention of the galleries was focused on the play of the Agua Calientes phenomenon. If Diegel can maintain his present form, he is conceded a good chance by experts to capture the championship for the second time.

Norton Smith, Joplin, Mo., was defeated in the closest match of the first round by Craig Wood, Long Island. Wood's three on the 37th green ended the match after Smith had dubbed his 20-foot mashie shot to the green and brought loud cheers from the crowd that had been following the exciting contest.

Pairings for the second round today were:

Larry Nabholz vs. Al Watrous.
Al Espinosa vs. Bill Mehlhorn.
Neil Christian vs. Craig Wood.
Henry Cuici vs. Johnny Farrell.
Tony Manero vs. Eddie Schultz.
Walter Hagen vs. Charlie Guest.
Herman Barron vs. Leo Diegel.
Fred Morrison vs. Gene Sarazen.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY TO BURGLARY OF 23 CENTS

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Pleading guilty to a burglary which netted them only 23 cents, two youthful members of what police termed a "boy crime ring" today faced reformatory terms of one to five years. Two others of the alleged gang already have been sentenced to reformatories at Red Wing and St. Cloud, and a fifth awaits a hearing Friday.

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Privates Henry R. Hester, 18, 206th infantry, and Franklin Sellers, 19, 135th infantry, both of Minneapolis, today were appointed to West Point academy by Governor Theodore Christianson. The two youths were chosen from a field of candidates who on March 4 were given examinations at Fort Snelling.

INDUSTRIAL LOOP ALSO PLANNED FOR WINTER SEASON

CITY TEAM TO SCHEDULE GAMES WITH THE SURROUNDING CITIES SOON

TEAM TO BE MADE UP OF BEST PLAYERS FROM THE INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

A movement in Brainerd was on foot today to provide the city with a fine skating and hockey rink. The plan, if successful, will include a four-team industrial hockey league to play games for a city championship. It is the plan to choose players from these teams to make up a city team to play outside competition.

The city team will, in all probability, schedule games with St. Cloud, Crosby, Ironton, and other surrounding cities. The movement recalls the hockey league of previous years when Alfred Dillan, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. was in charge of an Outdoor Sports club here.

The natural amphitheatre back of the court house is considered as the logical place for such a skating and hockey rink. With a wealth of fine skaters in Brainerd, it is thought that there would be no difficulty in selecting enough players for an industrial league, and the selection of players from these teams for a city team should be a comparatively easy matter.

VAN'S CAFE SIT FIRMLY AT HEAD OF STRAIGHTAWAY

TAKE 3 GAMES LAST EVENING FROM BRAINERD ELECTRICS

VAN ESSEN ROLLS TWO NICE COUNTS OF 233 AND 200

Van's Cafe are more firmly placed on top of the Straight Away League, taking three games from Brainerd Electric last evening. Van Essen rolled two nice counts of 233 and 200 but dropped to 155 in his last game for a 588 total which leaves him 18 pins behind Hagberg for high average of 181. Van Essen has a total of 4347 and Hagberg 4365 for 24 games bowled. Elide rolled consistently well for 578.

The Study Club lost two games to Brainerd Beverages. This makes their position for first place rather shaky as Princess Candies have a chance to pass them should they win two from the Camels Friday evening. Dr. L. F. Hawkins with 523 and Ingrid with 507 rolled the only counts over 500.

QUARTERBACKS almost invariably direct the plays of their team when on offense and are usually the safety men—last player between their goal and the scrimmage line—on defense. In addition, such field generals frequently rush the ball themselves—Albie Booth, of Yale, being the season's marvel in that respect. As a rule, theirs is the most difficult assignment in modern football. To conceive and help personally to carry out the strenuous strategy of every offensive play, to be "the last hope" of the defense when a hostile ball-carrier breaks into the clear—these fundamental details are serious indeed.

Yet the crack quarterback must be a field general plus. He must be an able ball-carrier, expert in catching punts and running forward; he must be a reliable forward passer, a competent interferer, and a sure tackler. Above all, he must keep his head in the heat of action and be the spark plug of this eleven man power motor—the very bark of his signals must galvanize his comrades! Because of the huddle system, don't think that the so-called "quarterback voice" is obsolete. If you do you've never felt the thrill of Albie Booth's bark as it electrifies the charge of a Yale line. It has the lift of his soaring punts!

But please don't regard this as another Booth rhapsody. Indeed, the Sport Bug doubts that the title sophomore will make many first All-America selections this year because of an abundance of super-stellar quarterback talent, led by such all-round brilliants as Carideo, of Notre Dame; Lee Eisan, of California; Johnny Branch, of North Carolina, and Cooper French, of Penn, just to mention a few.

Then there is the crippled Al Marsters, of Dartmouth. If the injury that ended his gridiron career in the Yale game does not eliminate him from consideration, that "Green Ghost" may be a popular first All-American choice.

Assuming that for such an honor all candidates have all-round extraordinary ability at quarterback play, the inspiration of team leadership alone might determine superiority. In that case, first All-American might be a toss-up between Marsters, Booth and Carideo—1929's most conspicuous team electrifiers.

HOOVER GIVES CONGRESS BUDGET RECOMMENDATIONS

for next year, the 1931 budget exceeds the expenditures for the current year by $4,304,000. An estimate of $200,000,000 for farm board expenditures in the 1931 fiscal year was included, however, for the purpose of estimating the surplus.

President Hoover estimated total receipts of the government in the fiscal year 1931 beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1931, at $4,225,727,666, while total expenditures were placed at $4,102,938,700, leaving an excess of receipts of $122,788,966.

For the present fiscal year which closes June 30, 1930, receipts were estimated at $4,249,263,434, and expenditures at $4,023,681,900, permitting the surplus of $224,581,534. For the fiscal year 1929 which closed last June 30, the actual surplus was $184,787,035.

Mr. Hoover noted a marked improvement in the financial situation during the current fiscal year. Compared with the estimates made one year ago in the last budget, he said, receipts show an increase of $408,000,000 and expenditures about $243,000,000.

Prohibition enforcement activities gained an increased budget estimate for the justice department, coast guard, customs service and prohibition bureau, although the latter estimate merely recommended continuing the $1,275,000 obtained in a supplemental estimate this year. The coast guard estimate was increased by $2,450,000 for new vessels, pay raisers and additional personnel.

In the estimate for the justice department of $32,017,292 there was included an increase of $4,079,922 over last year's appropriation for raising salaries, adding new investigators and other officials, detecting and prosecuting crime, and expansion of federal penitentiaries.

Leading increases in the budget estimates for 1931 as compared with the present budget were stated as follows: Enlarging capitol grounds, $3,600,000; completion of senate office building, $2,700,000; interstate commerce commission, $2,800,000; veterans bureau for soldiers' compensation, $4,550,000; medical and hospital service, $3,950,000; military and naval insurance, $4,750,000; forest service, $3,300,000; public roads $2,500,000; plant quarantine and control, $1,100,000; aeronautics branch commerce department, $2,500,000; Indian service, $3,100,000; justice department expenses, $1,200,000; penal and correctional institutions, $2,250,000; alterations to navy vessels, $6,950,000; increase of navy, $3,250,000.

State department, foreign service, $1,800,000; treasury department, refunding taxes collected illegally, $10,000,000; war department, buildings at military posts, $1,800,000; air corps,

$1,100,000; rivers and harbors, $5,000,000; flood control $5,000,000; District of Columbia, $3,300,000; public debt, $11,500,000.

Concluding his summary of the 1931 budget, President Hoover sounded a note of optimism. He advised congress:

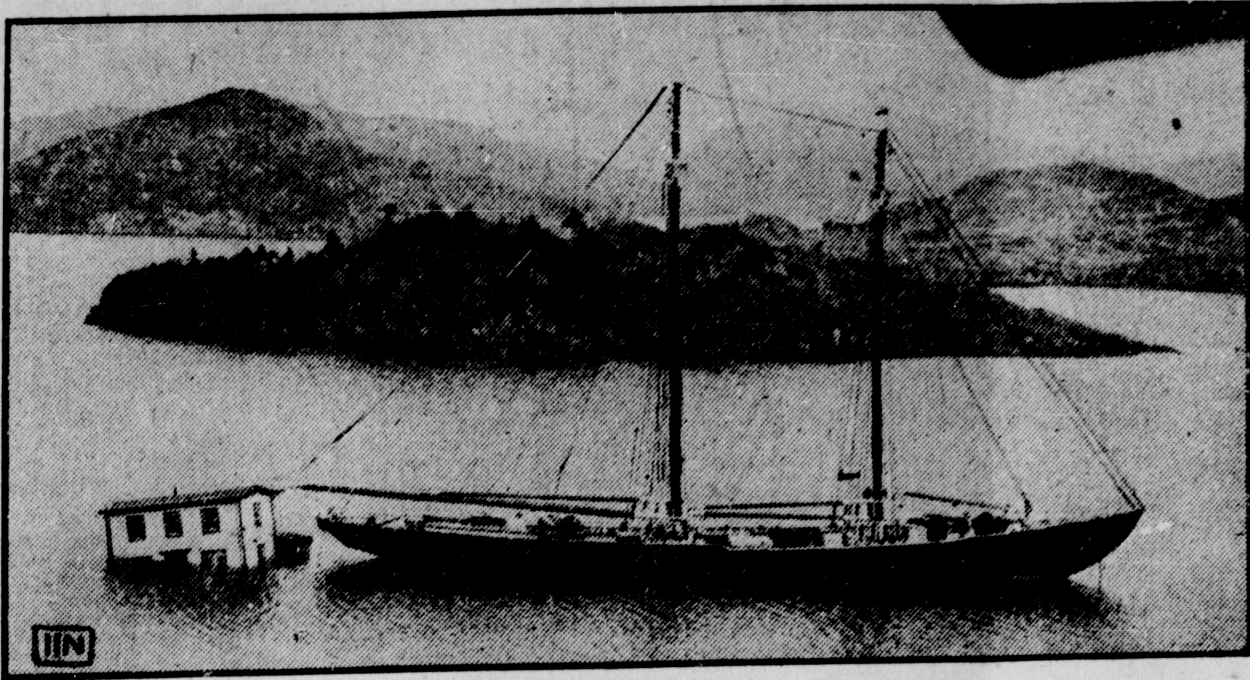

"Our finances are in sound condition. The public debt which at its peak in August, 1919, amounted to $26,596,000,000, stood at $16,931,000,000 on June 30, 1929. We are wisely committed to a policy which insures the further progressive reduction of the debt. We will reach in 1931 for the first time the period when the annual reduction required by law in the principal of the debt will be greater than the annual interest charges on the debt.

"We are also committed to the annual amortization of our other long term commitments—such as the adjusted service certificate of the world war veterans and our liability under the retirement laws affecting civilian personnel.

"Our estimated expenditures for this and the next year are well within our expected receipts. With the recommended reduction in taxes the margin between the two will be considerably lessened, but to what extent we do not definitely know today.

"This situation emphasizes the necessity for a careful scrutiny of any proposed additional activities which would involve material increase in expenditures in order that we may not jeopardize either the balanced condition of the budget or the continuation of the benefits of reduced taxation."

Towing House 5 Miles After Its Dislodgment by Earthquake Tidal Wave

This first and exclusive photo from the Newfoundland area stricken by the disastrous earthquake tidal wave of last week shows one of the dislodged houses being towed in from the sea by a returning fishing schooner. The house, along with many others, had been swept a distance of five miles by the gigantic inundation resulting from the quake, which shook a large section of the Northern Atlantic seaboard and snapped a third of the cables between America and Europe. More than a score of lives were lost and the enormous damage done to property has not yet been fully estimated.

CITY POWER WILL RUN PAPER MILL

Northwest Paper Company Forced to Use Power as River Becomes Low

STARTS LATTER PART OF WEEK

The Mill Will Use From 300 to 500 K. W. Per Hour, 16 Hours a Day

It was announced today that the Water and Light Department will furnish from 300 to 500 K. W. per hour to The Northwestern Paper Company for the operation of the machinery of the mill. The power will be turned in at the mill sometime the latter part of the week end will be in force from 12 o'clock, midnight, until 4 p. m. of the day following.

It is the belief of the Mill officials and the Water and Light Department who conferred yesterday afternoon and agreed upon the plan, that by furnishing the power for 16 hours each day enough water power can be conserved in that length of time to operate the Mill machinery the remainder of the 24 hours.

The mill is not running full force at the present time because the lowness of the river makes it impossible to get sufficient power. The fact that the Water and Light department has agreed to furnish this power keeps the working members of from 60 to 75 families in employment.

It would take 800 K. W. of power per hour to keep the mill working in all departments and since it is impossible to get this much power to the mill, a part of the plant will be shut down completely, officials of the Water and Light department stated today.

Letters or parcels having these stamps on the address side will be sent to the dead letter office unless the sender's return address is given.

NOVEL CONTEST AT POULTRY SHOW

To See How Many Kernels of Corn Champion White Rock Cock Can Eat in 5 Minutes

HATCHERY GIVE PRIZE

Judging Will be Finished by 5 O'clock This Evening; Many Entries

A feature of the last day of the Crow Wing county poultry show tomorrow at the U. C. T. auditorium will be a novel guessing contest. The Brainerd Flour and Feed company will give a sack of Gold Medal Vitamin Breeding and Laying Mash to the person guessing the correct or the most nearly correct number of kernels of corn that the White Rock cock at the show can eat in three minutes. The entries of guesses in the contest will be received at the Brainerd Flour and Feed company's booth. Entries were received at 2:30 this afternoon and will continue to be received until the time that the rooster has his meal at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

C. Plomski of the Brainerd Hatchery Company is offering 50 baby chicks, any breed, for the champion poultry pen in the show.

L. S. Armstrong of St. Paul, judge at the show, began the judging this morning and this work should be finished by 5 o'clock this evening. There is an exceptionally large display of turkeys as well as a particularly good display of chickens, geese and ducks of all the popular breeds. There are between 450 and 500 entries in all.

There is no admission to the show this year, while there has been in some years past.

L. S. Armstrong of St. Paul, judge at the show, stated this afternoon that the show compared favorably with any county show that he has seen in the state. "The quality of the exhibits is very good," he added.

"Judge" Cross, poultry expert attending the show, was also very deeply impressed with the quality of the birds exhibited and stated that many of the birds had already won prizes at the State Fair. He seemed surprised the poultry fanciers in the county were able to get such a good show on such short notice.

One bird that attracted a great deal of attention this afternoon was a mammoth bronze turkey owned by I. E. Shiser of Atkin. The bird was bred from a $250 turkey.

A number of booths are attracting a great deal of attention at the show. The Angel Flour and Feed is exhibiting a booth of Purina products while the Brainerd Flour and Feed company and Turcotte Brothers have very attractive displays of Gold Medal poultry products. The Gruenhagen company is exhibiting a display of poultry equipment.

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

An old abandoned Long Island estate, "The Firs," is the only inheritance Nathalie Van Slaick finds has been left by her once wealthy sportsman father, "Happy Jack" Van Slaick. Repulsed by her rich aunt, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, Nathalie, in desperation, cashes a check knowing she has no funds in the bank. With no other resources, Nathalie agrees to act as hostess to a rich South American, Capt. Ramon Stefano, who has taken over "The Firs" supposedly to entertain his wealthy friends. She does this on one condition, that she is to remain masked and her identity to remain a secret. John Sloan, young lawyer, assigned to care for Nathalie's affairs, has fallen in love with Nathalie. Without her knowledge, Sloan has made good the false check. He warns her of this strange venture she is about to embark upon, fearing her romantic nature will force her to capitulate to Stefano's charm and the spirit of adventure attending her unusual position. Neither of them knows that Stefano is without funds and is being financed by Ferris, a New York ex-policeman, who wishes to locate Nathalie and obtain possession of "The Firs," knowing that a new state road will enhance its value. Long Island's wealthiest society people attend the opening of "The Firs" and are intrigued by the Masked Hostess, who is disguised as a black-haired senorita. Nathalie is delighted when none of her friends recognize her. Nathalie, fascinated by the handsome Stefano, finds herself in his arms, but quickly eludes him as his lips reach for hers. Next day, receiving an advance payment of $1,000, Nathalie goes to Brookville to the bank. She meets John Sloan. In Southampton, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, reading a society paper, learns of Stefano's adventure. In New York, Ferris, mysterious ex-policeman, likewise is irritated when he reads of Stefano's intriguing Masked Hostess. Meeting Stefano, Ferris questions him about the Masked Hostess. Stefano is warned to look out for Nathalie. At a masked party at "The Firs," he learns that Mrs. Pemberton Swayne is present. She questions him closely about the Masked Hostess. Suddenly Stefano realizes the Masked Hostess is Nathalie Van Slaick, the beautiful niece of Mrs. Swayne, whom he had previously met.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV.

NATHALIE and the harlequin in whose arms she danced went out, when the dance ended, to a long porch which ran along one side of the house and rested together on a bamboo sofa under Chinese lights. Other couples were out there in plenty, servants carried trays about, and the air was full of gaiety and chaff and chatter. "A girl said to me once," announced the harlequin, "that nothing disguised anyone more than an oval half-mask. When I disputed her statement she advised me to go to a masquerade sometime and test if it wasn't true. It is."

"Of course it is," agreed Nathalie. "Neither you nor I know who each other is. Just as we haven't an idea who any of the people about us are."

"And yet," pursued the harlequin, "now don't move out of your relaxed pose at this but hold it—keep your mask on as it were. And yet I met that same girl out-side of a country bank not long ago when she was as good as masked and knew her at once. And then tonight I turned up here myself with a mask on and danced with her and she didn't know me. Do you consider that playing fair?"

An Indian who had taken his fill of the firewater that was being served inside came out on the porch and whooped and everybody whooped in unison with him and everybody laughed. While general attention was on him John Sloan lowered his mask and let Nathalie see him and put it quickly back again.

"No Indian," he said. "Keep the relaxed pose—hold it. Just like that. That's fine."

"And while I was at the country bank," he continued, "a queer thing or two happened so I thought I'd drift in here tonight and let you know what they were. Fortunately this isn't a particularly difficult house to get into. I know Monte Delaine very well and telephoned him I'd like to come over and we hired our harlequin suits together at the same costumers."

"And rescued me from a frightfully tight corner," Nathalie assured him, "and if only for that I'm frightfully glad to see you. Did you know the woman you took me away from was my aunt?" She kept her pose indolent, as he had warned her to, and kept her voice at a high pitch to match the pose. "Certainly," he said. "She promoted this party. I crashed you when I thought she'd bothered you enough. And she didn't recognize you. You can be sure about that. I was watching her eyes. I'd like, by the way"—and he grinned—"to see her face when she learns that your cousin Sylvia and Monty have gone sweet on each other."

Nathalie sat up straight. "Sit back," Sloan warned her. "It's a fact. But not one of the facts I came here to talk to you about."

Nathalie had to hear a little about it, though. "Are they really meaning to marry?" She asked, full of interest about it. "Aunt Olivia'll go mad. When? And on what?"

"Oh, on some of Mont's land when he sells it. When if ever. But so far as your cousin's concerned Captain Stefano is out of the picture. Which brings us back to business again for it's Stefano I want to talk to you about."

Her mask covered most of the blush that rose to Nathalie's face and in any case Sloan missed it in the colored light.

"He has been charming to me," she said quickly. "Charming and courteous and kind."

Sloan caught her tone and noted it but went on nevertheless.

"I'm sure of it. And I like him. But over at Brookville where I was working, as I told you if you remember, and so taking notice of everything there was around I automatically took down the number of the car you came in in and it isn't Stefano's car. That is unless he has just bought it and is risking a fine by not taking out a new number. It belongs, or did belong, to a former policeman."

"A policeman?" Nathalie half cried. The image of the man at Southampton flashed into her mind. Then the reflection came to her that the next day she would be free to draw against her bank balance and she sank back among her cushions again.

"A chap named Ferris," Sloan explained, "who seems extremely interested in me since he has taken me follow me from Brookline after I had talked to you. I would not have known anyone was watching me if Ferris's man hadn't been parked in a car outside the bank and followed me right in and looked me over while I was talking to Pound. He was so clumsy about it, obviously without any business in the bank except to watch me, that I thought I'd find out what I could about him and so took down his car's license number from the window while Pound and I were talking. When right afterward you came to the bank, and while I was in the street, I wrote down your car number too. I was sure—positive—the man was checking up on me when he left his car in Brookville, right where it was standing, and took the same train I did to New York. So I shook him off at Pennsylvania station—it wasn't at all hard—and later checked up on the car numbers. Both belong to Ferris."

"And who is Ferris?" asked Nathalie. "And why should Stefano drive his car?" Her voice shook a little but she managed to control it reasonably well.

"A one-time policeman, as I said," Sloan answered, "who is now rather well off and has a finger in a number of pies. He has owned gambling houses and has an interest in a night club and has been in a number of real estate deals and owns a good deal of property. Some of it on Fifth Avenue even. But nevertheless, he still does detective work. I found out about him through a law firm he does what he calls 'investigating' for."

Sloan paused a moment. "But the point is," he said then, "that I don't know why Stefano has his car, unless Stefano has hired it from him. It appears—this will surprise you and will a lot of people when it gets out—please keep casual—Stefano is hard up."

"You're not mistaken?" You must be."

Sloan shook his head. "No, I've been cabling South America and he is. So my theory is that he either has Ferris's car because Ferris rented it to him, or else that Pound and Ferris in some way I haven't fathomed yet are using him between them and have put him in here. I don't think he knows at all what they're up to. I can't believe it of him. I certainly don't, or even if they're working together; but that I propose to find out. My notion is generally that Pound, working through Ferris, is trying to boost the value of this place before the foreclosure sale and is financing Stefano to get it talked about. I imagine Stefano, who is proud and has been entertained by everybody on Long Island, has snapped at the chance to come in here and splurge and so pay his social debts. Meanwhile you watch here and I will watch outside and perhaps between us we will hit on the solution and save this property for you. We had better go inside now, I think."

He left some time during the daylight breakfast which the party broke up and just before the general unmasking which preceded a general going away.

Stefano still filled with amazement at his discovering who Nathalie was, watched her in suppressed excitement during the uproarious breakfasting, imagining that when all masks were lowered she might, inadvertently, remove hers too.

But she still had it on when he drove away, and as he headed the yellow car toward Meadow Brook he was pondering what interest Ferris could have in her and what he meant by the "piece of change" which he and she were to divide. And how big that might be.

Quick Pile Relief

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is guaranteed to banish any form of Pile misery, or money back. It gives quick action even in old, stubborn cases. Hem-Roid is a harmless tablet that removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. It brings joyful relief quickly and safely or costs nothing. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere sell it with this guarantee. advt.

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the tax man have soiled the woodwork. It does look messy. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. What do you say?
